Astor last week, the police arrived on the double quick and were posted all around the hotel in the hope of catching the robber who, it was thought, might have concealed himself in the building.

According to the police, Mr. Ireland seized a revolver white struggling with the burglar, but the latter hit him with a chair and knocked the weapon from his hand. Mr. Ireland had directed his wife to telephone for assistance, but the intruder seized har and placed her before him as a shield. Returning to the fray, with a piece of the broken chair, Mr. Ireland landed several blows before the rabber died. The guest followed him in his pajamas through the corridors and down four flights of stairs, losing him when the robber made a dive into the

New Fashiened "Jimmy."

An eccentric burgiar invaded last night the "5th avenue zone," forbidden to criminals, and was captured in the act of entering a fashionable apartment in West 57th street.

The burgiar specialized in the use of a small new-fashioned tack puller as a "jimmy." In many fashionable apartments robbed in the last six weeks police have found a small tack puller, and lying close by a bit of blue wrapping paper. The wrapping paper was identified later as that used by a large department store, and for hours yesterday a detective kept vigil at the hardware counters of the establishment. He was rewarded when a man appeared and bought several of the dainty "jimmies."

Followed by the sleuth, the man walked to the apartment house in 57th street, unwrapped one of the pullers and started work on a door.

On a man arraigned in Jefferson on a man arraigned in Jefferson Market court was found a map of Greenwich Village. On the map were such ominous inscriptions as "Cop on corner from 12 to 1." and "Bad entrance and exits poor." Occasionally there was a helpful tip, such as "This door best"

Some time, some day, our eyes shall see The tace we love so well; Some day his hand shall clasp in ours

Oft to ourselves we think of you.
Think of the things we used to do:
Think of the things we used to say.
Think of each happy yesterday.
Sometimes we smile, sometimes we sigh.
While thinking of you oft to ourselves.
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

DIE E. ALLEN, who departed this life two years ago today, December 24, 1918.

A happy home we once enjoyed.
How sweet its memory still.
But death has left a vacancy
This world can never fill.
I often sit and wonder
What you would think and say.

ALLEN. In loving remembrance of our dear sister, ADDIE A. ALLEN, who died two rears ago, December 24, 1918.

Your dear face is always with us.

Your dear suites, your eyes are, too:
You cannot come to us, dear sister,
But some day we will come to you.

SINAH AND JAMES.

The midnight stars are gleaming Upon her silent grave. The one we loved so dearly And tried so hard to save.

For we have no mother now.

It was an early morning hour.
Three years ago today,
The angel of death came down to sarrh
And bore our dear husband and father away

Some may think you are forgotten
And the wound is nearly healed,
But little do they know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
LOVING WIFE AND SON. MARY CLARK
